

Why study A Level Physical Education at Tarpорley Sixth Form?

Why we love teaching A Level:
Social, historical and cultural factors influenced the rationalisation of sport in post-industrial Britain. Nowadays, sport is integral in our lives, bringing many physiological, psychological and emotional benefits to those that take part. The course offers a fascinating insight into the role of the sports performer, spectator and official. It examines the key developments in global and professional sport. Sport is no longer just a hobby, it is a commercial commodity.

join us to find out more!

There are numerous leadership opportunities within the PE department. Becoming a coach or official enhances your knowledge, skills and performance. Follow us on twitter @Tarpорley PE

- Mr Morphet
- BA HONS Sport Development & Coaching
- Northumbria University
- Favourite sport: Football

- Miss Thursfield
- BSC HONS Sport & Exercise Science
- Chester University
- Favourite sport: Rugby

- Mr Edge
- BA HONS Sport Studies
- University of Central Lancashire
- Favourite sport: Cricket

- Mr Pryor
- BSC HONS Exercise Science & Physiology
- MSc Teaching & Learning
- Liverpool JM University
- Favourite sport: Rugby

Where could Physical Education take me?

Our students went on to read:

- ISLA: Sport, Exercise & Health Sciences at Birmingham University
- MAX: Sport Business Management at Leeds Beckett University
- ANNABELLE: Physiotherapy at Sheffield Hallam University
- ALFIE: Sports Science in the USA
- JAMES: Handball Training with TEAM GB in Denmark

“ As a Gymnast, the body is placed under intense physiological strain during training and competition. This course enabled me to expand my theoretical understanding and apply this knowledge to support my own performance”
ISLA: Studying Sport, Exercise & Health Science at Birmingham University

“ The course has challenged me to understand sport, but not just as a performer. I have enjoyed applying anatomical and physiological principles to my performance. Furthermore, learning about sport in different countries, interests me”
Amber: Current student and Liverpool FC Player

“ Studying A Level PE enabled me to explore my interest in professional sport and the commercial aspects of sport.”
LUKE: Currently, Operations Manager at Switch the Play (UK Charity dedicated to professional athletes fulfil their potential through and beyond sport)

Real world skills: Teamwork. Leadership. Communication. Problem Solving. Analysis. Cultural understanding. Social integration. Challenge.